BIG "TUG OF WAR" HAS
NOW FAIRLY COMMENCED

Gazette's Contest Reaches Stage Where Contestants Are Showing
Their Hands—Every One Now in Earnest—Spirit of Hustle Prevails—Fairness Appeals to All.

Attention of contestants is called to the fact that any one who is now a subscriber to the Semi-Weekly and wishes to change to the Daily, is a NEW subscriber to the Daily and votes issued accordingly. If all arrears to the Semi-Weekly is paid, votes will also be issued on arrears according to the scale of old subscribers.

The Gazette's great contest is now entering its third week, and the enthusiasm has increased with each succeeding day of balloting. The interest which has been manifested by the young ladies entered is encouraging and the young ladies will find this great array of prizes well worth the effort. They are well acquainted with the prizes and the prizes are well worth the effort.

There seems to be no limit to the energy with which the contestants and their friends have entered into the spirit of this great event, and to use a common expression, they are "tearing things up" in an effort to place their names at the head of the list. That many have been successful in attaining a lead over all contestants at various times is well attested by a glance at the list of the Gazette since the list was first published. There have been but few nights on which the same young lady has held the lead successively. In any of the districts, and this fact alone should prove an encouraging feature to those who have not yet been fortunate enough to climb to the top. There is an abundance of time left, however, and the management ventures the suggestion that there will be many surprises in store before the ballots are counted for the last time.

Tug of War is Now On.
Right now the contest has reached a stage where heavy returns will be given to the voters. The results of the ballots of five hundred votes each, which were issued last evening, are already apparent in the heavy vote which has been cast. The contestants are entering upon a tug of war which will last until the hour when the final ballot has been cast. A contest in which the element of popularity is paramount, is now on, and there will be no cessation of interest until all is over.

Friends Are Responding.
Right now is the time when every contestant should be looking for the support of the main body of her supporters, with their assistance, because everyone has a chance, and the victory goes to her, who takes that chance, and makes the most of the opportunity offered. As one contestant said to the manager yesterday, "I may not have a chance, but I am going to let them know I am in the contest." This young lady has the idea that is going to be of assistance to her more than that, she will open the pages of the paper some evening to find that she is at the head of the list, merely because she has set out with the determination to win. That is the spirit that will win in every thing, especially in an event of this nature, one in which so many popular young ladies are entered.

Votes Are Free.
Votes for payments upon subscription from subscribers or those who would become subscribers can be cast by making the payment to any representative of "The Gazette," to the candidate or to the office direct. If you desire and will send a remittance to the contest manager, he will cast the number of votes you are entitled to in favor of your favorite candidate. If there is no candidate already entered in the list whom you desire to favor with your patronage, you can nominate a candidate or enter the contest yourself.

Care in Mailing Necessary.
Many contestants have been in the habit of mailing nomination blanks and coupon votes in the same envelope and have not taken care to separate the two. This has resulted in much trouble for the contest manager in counting the votes, owing to the fact that the two species of ballot must be separate before an accurate count can be made.

Contestants who mail nomination blanks and coupon ballots in the same envelope hereafter will be careful to see that the coupons and the nomination blanks are kept separate, although it is perfectly right to mail both in the same envelope. Contestants would also confer a favor upon the management if they would, upon mailing a nomination blank, insert with them a slip of paper indicating the number of votes contained in the envelope. Then in case the final count of ballots agrees with the number contained on the slip it will eliminate the necessity of the contest manager counting the ballots twice, and trouble.

Plans on Display.
One of our beautiful Newman Bros. pianos, three of which have been purchased of Mr. H. F. Nott, is now on display in the furniture and china store of C. S. Putnam on S. Main St. All of our contestants and their friends are invited to call and inspect the piano any time.

HAPPY ENDING TO A PRETTY ROMANCE

Miss Rutherford of This City Marries
Sweetheart of School Days
Today.

At 12:30 today in the rectory of Christ church Miss Anna Rutherford of this city was united in marriage to George L. Bonney of St. Louis. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John McKinney and was witnessed by immediate relatives and friends. The bride was given away by Henry D. James, a cousin, of Milwaukee. After the ceremony a small company of guests of Mrs. A. C. Kent at her home in the La Vista flats on South Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Bonney leave this afternoon at 4:45 for Milwaukee, where they will visit for a short time. Relatives and friends in Watertown will also be visited, after which they will go to St. Louis to make their home. They will be at home to friends after August 5 at 811 South Compton avenue.

Mr. Bonney is well known in the railroad service of the south, where he is superintendent of the dining car service of the Missouri Pacific. From Mountain route, Miss Rutherford during her residence in this city of the past ten years, by her genial manner and pleasing ways, has made many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford were born and brought up in Watertown, attending the public schools together and the same Sunday school. An attachment was formed in this way. Since Mr. Bonney went into the business world he and Miss Rutherford were able to see one another only occasionally, but he has visited here several times.

Exceptions.
"You don't have to be enthusiastic to succeed in some things," said the boarding-house philosopher; "I once saw a man believe a speed of a mile a minute sliding down a mountain side, without the slightest effort on his part and without having had any ambition to do it."

Striking Indian Nomenclature.
"Muskhoka," Clear Sky Land; "Mogawetaw," Smooth Flowing Water; "Kawartha," Bright Water and Happy Land; "Toungami," Deep Water; "Wawa," The Flying Goose; are the names of the most delightful spots for a summer's outing on the American continent. All reached at special low round trip fares via Grand Trunk Railway System. Double track from Chicago to Montreal and Niagara Falls.

Particulars of fares, descriptive literature, time tables, etc., will be mailed free on application to W. S. Coolidge, A. G. P. A., 135 Adams street, Chicago.

WORD OF WARNING TO AUTO DRIVERS
Constables and Deputy Sheriffs After Persons Violating Lighting Their Lamps Regulations.
Down across the state line in Illinois there are a lot of deputy sheriffs and constables who are most anxious to capture a Wisconsin automobile without his lamps lighted after sunset. Several Beloit auto owners have been troubled by this species of officers and have before a justice to pay a fine for breaking the law of the state. The Illinois law requires that automobile lamps must be lighted at sunset and if the car is in use, remain lighted until an hour before sunrise. The fine for violation of this law is $25.

BIG CIRCUS COMES
TOMORROW MORNING

Small Boys and Some Big Ones Will be on Hand to Greet First Wagon at the "Lot."

There will be mighty little sleeping tonight in many homes in the city where Young America resides. Long before it is daylight the processions of little enthusiasts will be at the railroad yards to watch the unloading of the big trains that will bring the Barnum & Bailey circus into the city for their one day visit.

From early in the morning, when the circus comes to town, when the small boys hurry through his breakfast or goes without, to hurry to the ground where the big tent is being set up, watching every preparation for the big parade, there will be something doing. It is fortunate for the boys, and the girls too, that the circus is a summer institution, thus enabling the young folks to enjoy its pleasures without seriously interfering with school duties.

The clown, who is the descendant of the same clown our fathers and mothers laughed at, will make his bow. The wonderful trained animals, performing feats seemingly impossible, the dashing equestrians, the half-raiding nationalists, the beautiful horses, the hundred and one pictured features will make their appearance, and the long anticipated enjoyment of circus day will be a reality.

The Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth is a new institution this year. The present owners have brought all their combined resources to aid in perfecting an organization which it is hoped will win for itself the distinction of being the greatest circus exhibition in the world.

Chief among the many features is the new seasonal attraction, Barnum & Bailey always present something distinctly breath-taking in the way of a head-liner. This year it is "Jupiter, the Balloon Horse," Jupiter, an Arabian stallion, is carried skyward by a balloon while the platform upon which he stands is enveloped in a curtain of fire.

Keeping the little folks in mind, Barnum & Bailey have for this season's performance secured a number of trained animal acts. At the Hippodrome, one of this last winter's stars was Cliff Dorgan's pony and donkey circus. The three Mustangs, French pantomime artists assisted by their monkey and dog clowns. No where else in the world can one see such herds of trained elephants. The entertaining pantomime work of these mammals is beyond the power of words. Edward Shipps' string of beautiful Kentucky thoroughbreds—everyone a blue ribbon winner—will go through the curriculum of an equine high school.

The juveniles of circus day will materialize with the first street parade which is scheduled to start from the show grounds at 10 o'clock. Much that is amusing, interesting and entertaining is promised in the street parades, the completeness of which represents an outlay of more than $2,000,000. The amiability of the management is manifest in the statement that the cages containing rare wild animals will be arranged in a manner allowing the public to have a full view of the collections, as the parade passes along the streets.

SMALL BOAT OWNERS
ASKING FOR JUSTICE

Claim That Launch Owners Neglect to Obey the Law Regarding Carrying Lights at Night.

In the following communication to the Launch Owners handed in to the Gazette by a small boat owner justice is asked for the preservation of life of the occupants of the small boats. It is worth considering and what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

To certain launch owners:
Persons who are not as fortunate perhaps as some of their fellows who own power boats, and whose pleasure riding and recreation on the river is taken in canoes and rowboats, have been in constant danger this summer from a few launch owners who insist on running their boats up and down the river after dark without lights. Canoeists and persons in rowboats are obliged to give those launches a wide berth, and are forced to keep in the shallow places among the stumps; for with the exception of the narrow channel by Swallow Hollow, the launches are not particular about keeping in any limited course. Thus the danger of striking a stump and capsizing is almost as great as that of being run down by a power boat with no light.

Whenever when a wind is blowing and a launch is coming up against the wind, it cannot be heard until so close that it is hard work for a small boat to get out of the way.

Two years ago some careless fellow was hauled up in short order for not having a light, and the person writing this met three launches this side of Crystal Springs last night with no lights; and it was not the first time this summer.

There are more small boats being put on the river every year, and surely those owning them have a right to enjoy the river and boating on it, and are entitled to protection.

Let the launch club get busy and enforce the law requiring lights on power boats. It is for their own good and safety, and so with the small boats demand protection from being run down, by having the light law enforced.

ELLIS IS HELD AS SLAYER.

Murder in Arkansas Courtroom Declared Unjustifiable.

Little Rock, Ark., July 29.—After being spirited away in an automobile W. Y. Ellis of Pine Bluff, Ark., who shot and almost instantly killed Nathaniel P. Willis, a wealthy resident of Indianapolis, Ind., in the circuit court room, has been returned to the Pulaski county jail. Although the shooting has occasioned great excitement there is no danger of violence. Friends of Willis are expected to arrive this afternoon from Indianapolis.

At a coroner's inquest over the body of Willis a verdict, finding that the killing was unjustifiable and recommending that Ellis be held on the charge of murder, was returned.

PLEASING RECITAL AT BRODHEAD HOME

Lovers of Music of City Glorified At Home of Dr. and Mrs. Murdock Yesterday Afternoon.

(Special to this Gazette.)
Brodhead, July 29.—A delightful musical was given yesterday afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Murdock by Mesdames H. D. Murdock, H. C. Broughton, C. F. Gardner and S. D. Fisher, there being about 100 ladies present. The following excellent program was rendered and every number was of a high order:

Florence Vase, (Solo), Lullaby

Mr. Frederick Trachsel

Hungarian Love Song, (Solo),

Mr. Alfred Pierce

The Ragged Nurse, (Solo),

Margaret Taylor-Ton Eyckle

Rigoletto Fantasia, (Solo),

Mr. Frederick Trachsel

Carmina, (Solo),

Minnie Veck Collins

Intermission.

(a) Vase, Op. 42

(b) Etude, Op. 10, No. 5, Chopin

Mr. Frederick Trachsel

The Pirate, (Solo),

Mr. Maurice Pierce

When Malindy Sings, (Solo),

Mr. Lawrence Dunbar

Tamara's March, (Solo),

Mr. Frederick Trachsel

Seraph Clinton Pierce, Accompanist.

While assisting in the operating of a cream separator on Tuesday at the home of her parents in Spring Grove, Miss Ethel Myers had a finger caught in the gearing and so badly injured that it was found necessary to take it off at the first joint.

At a recent meeting of the School Board Dr. H. D. Kirkpatrick was elected president and F. L. Searles treasurer. Commissioner Fred Ties tendered his resignation which has not as yet been accepted. Those who have been associated with Mr. Ties in the school work here do not like to see him resigning and have been a careful, painstaking official, hence the delay in accepting his resignation.

Manager Albert Broughton is making several improvements about his opera house which quite materially increases the seating capacity. Both the north and south galleries have been lengthened and the east one has been raised. The clock room has also been enlarged and new paint for the whole interior will add not a little to the appearance.

Mr. Dan Brobst was given a surprise party on Tuesday afternoon at his home, the occasion being his eightieth birthday. A large company was present including several from out of town. A fine dinner was served and the time was spent in a happy manner. All are pleased to note that although Mr. Brobst has reached the allotted three score and ten years, he is still hale and hearty and is good for another twenty.

Plans to organize a bank in the village of Portville are about perfected and it is expected the near future will bring it about. It is said Morton Fish is the investigator and will be in charge when the institution is put in working order.

Miss Corn Beebe is visiting in West Virginia. She will go from there to Washington, D. C., for a stay of some length.

Rev. and Mrs. J. Lloyd Smith and daughter Alta, went to Chicago Wednesday afternoon to visit with friends for a few days. They go from that city to Lansing, Mich., for an extended stay.

Louise Gleso and Miss Gleso and the Misses Lena Schultz, and Minnie Bernstein are camping near Monroe and attending the camp meeting.

Miss Mable Hall of Colridge, Nebraska, is here the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Alice Moon and other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Sherman entertained last week, Mrs. Ellis of Windsor Wis., author of the poem "Autumn Leaves."

A much needed shower was thankfully received here on Wednesday of which crops were much in need.

SPRING VALLEY CORNERS.
Spring Valley Corners, July 28.—Miss May Fuller visited friends here recently.

Mr. and Mrs. August Scholtz attended the ball game at Albany last Saturday.

Misses Vivian Sayles and Irene McDonald are visiting relatives here.

George Gibson is planning to make a trip to South Dakota in the near future.

Miss Emma Harper of Galeville, Wis., arrived Wednesday evening to spend several days with Mrs. M. Harper and family.

Orville Lee has been working for John Gough.

The rain was greatly appreciated by farmers in this locality.

K. OF C. HAD GLORIOUS DAY AT YOST'S PARK

Weather Was Rather Bad at First but Picnic Was in All a Grand Success.

Yesterday at Yost's Park, Carroll Council of Janesville and St. Thomas Council of Beloit, Knights of Columbus, held their seventh annual joint picnic at Yost's Park. About three hundred people attended, one half of whom were from Janesville, and the other half from Beloit.

The picnic was a grand success, a keen rivalry between the two lodges in all the games adding to the fun. Beloit triumphed before the picnic, with the Janesville knights, but were only wholly successful in accomplishing this feat in the baseball game. On the other hand the Beloit City knights found it was "like taking candy from a child" in winning the tug of war.

The races were about evenly divided, but when it came to tripping the light fantastic and the dancing Carroll council was "there with the goods."

The fat and lean men's baseball game was a sort of tussle between Beloit and Janesville, both clubs claiming the game, but Janesville got the box of cigars which was offered as a prize.

W. T. ("Colonel") Dooley of this city was president of the day, and under his supervision the "ball" was kept rolling all the time.

The baseball contest between Carroll council and St. Thomas council was a victory for the latter. Beloit players made ten runs, eight hits and five errors, and Janesville five runs, seven hits and three errors. The lineups were: Carroll Council—J. Devine, p; D. Sullivan, c; G. Chantelle, 1b; I. Connell, 2b; B. Brown, 3b; G. Senz, 4b; J. Walsh, rf; J. McKerron, lf; and D. McAniff, cf. St. Thomas Council—Goodwin, c; Schuber, p; Gill, 1b; Bowley, 2b; Mills, 3b; Pincus, 4b; Baker, rf; Walsh, lf; Kline, cf. Umpire—"Con" Hayes.

In the evening there was a dance with music by the Knott & Hatch orchestra, the same organization furnishing the musical part of the program of the day.

Education.

For, when all is said and done, the value of formal education is not in the facts acquired nor in the arts or sciences of which some idea may be obtained. It is in the training and exercising of the mind to work—to know how to go about the task that may present itself—to understand that because the task is strange it is not therefore impossible. It is in the equipment of the mind with a fulcrum on which to rest levers and move the world.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

June as Wedding Month.

The popularity of June as a wedding month may be traced to the fact that, game and fish being plentiful in summer, it was then that our progenitors naturally turned their thoughts to affairs matrimonial, exactly as a young man of to-day waits for an increase of salary before plunging into marriage.

Heroic Remedy.

"The only man I ever knew who had what they call the artistic temperament," said Uncle Allen Sparks, "was thoroughly cured by his wife. She whipped it out of him."

BODY CELLS BUILT BY ALBUMEN.

Food is assimilated only by the cell, the minute organism which lives an independent life (to a degree) in the blood, and joins the organization of some particular organ by some mysterious process of selection influenced by the attitude of the mind. Cells are built of albumen, though they cannot live well on albumen alone, just as the growing chick needs not only the albumen in the white of the egg, but the lime, fat, phosphorus, potash, magnesium, sulphur, etc., in the yolk—all of which are in milk. The albumen must be furnished in assimilable form, uncoagulated by heat (hard boiled milk will not long maintain an infant's existence) as we find it in meat or eggs (little cooked) nuts and cereals. Nuts, not cooked, as peanuts commonly are, entire grain bread, very slowly baked, entire rice and fresh cheese or buttermilk are the best sources of albumen.

Plans to organize a bank in the village of Portville are about perfected and it is expected the near future will bring it about. It is said Morton Fish is the investigator and will be in charge when the institution is put in working order.

MARKER LOST THOUSANDS IN BUCKETSHOP PLUNGE

Indiana's Fugitive Banker Tried in Vain to Cover Shortage Estimated at $110,000.

Tipton, Ind., July 29.—Further sensational developments are expected today in connection with the theft—now estimated at $110,000—from the First National bank by Noah H. Marker, assistant cashier, who is hunted by detectives all over the country. In the note to his brother, Will H. Marker, the bank's cashier, Noah said:

"I have been carrying a shortage on the books and can stand it no longer, and I am going away. I have taken only a small amount of cash with me."

It is believed by the young man's friends that Noah financed a number of bad contracts, particularly contracts for federal and other public buildings, and then went into the business of street and sewer building, the purchase of land in Texas and other states, until the shortage amounted to almost $50,000, which was covered up by manipulating the books and forging notes in duplicate. When Noah saw that the day of reckoning was close by he tried to make good the shortage in his books by speculating in an Indianapolis bucket shop.

One of the missing man's closest friends said that he did not believe that Noah had speculated in grain until within the last two weeks. He took the money that came in over the counter last Saturday and the gold certificates in the bank vaults and plunged on the grain market and lost. This friend insists that Noah Marker did not carry the $50,000 away with him, that the greater portion, if not all of it, was lost in grain speculation before he fled.

In addition to the $110,000 shortage and over that is traced to Marker, there is a loan of $25,000 to Edward Beeler, who started a department store here, the bank, through the Marker boys, financing the scheme. It was a failure, and Beeler shot himself to death in Chicago the first of this year.

MAY ASK FOR WHIPPING POST.
Peoria Officials Want Law for Old Way of Punishing Husbands.

Peoria, Ill., July 29.—Officials of Peoria county are seriously considering the feasibility of asking the Illinois legislature at its coming special session for a law that will permit a whipping post for men who abandon their wives or who in other ways are convicted of mistreating them.

Five cases of wife abandonment a day is the average for the last 12 months in Peoria county, while wife beaters and men who fail to support their families make up a total of almost twice as many cases to come before local courts. State's Attorney Robert Scholes is earnestly in favor of the whipping post.

DOG IS TO BE STATE'S WITNESS.

Canine in Jail to Give Mute Testimony Against Master.

Atlanta, Ga., July 29.—A dog is locked up in the Cobb county jail as a "material witness" in an assault case. The animal is believed to be the one which accompanied a negro who assaulted Mrs. Essy Brown near Vincent station recently.

Willard Webb, a negro, is in jail in Atlanta charged with the attack. The dog will confront his alleged master at the trial next month. His blind faithfulness being relied upon to give true testimony. Mrs. Brown has identified the dog.

Americans at World's Conference.
Barren-Eberfeld, Germany, July 29.—The World's Alliance of Young Men's Christian associations opened its seventeenth world's conference here. Lord Kinnaird presided at the inaugural meeting and 1,500 delegates from all countries, including 60 Americans were in attendance.

FREE HIDES AND FAIR PROFITS

Whatever may be the outcome of the controversy over putting hides on the free list, the responsibility for its defeat or success will rest on the western senators. They appear to have taken the position that if hides are to enter free, then shoes and other leather products should likewise be placed on the free list. That is,

if a raw material is admitted free,

then all the manufactured products into which raw material enters must likewise be placed on the free list.

However this doctrine may be classified, it never was either the republican policy or the democratic policy to treat raw materials and products manufactured therefrom in the same manner as imports. The republican party principle as enunciated in their platform declared for a protection which would include two elements—

the difference between the labor cost of the imported article at home and abroad plus a fair manufacturer's profit.

The labor cost of hides in the United States is probably no more than in Argentina or anywhere else from which hides might come to the United States. As for profit, the producers of hides find it in the high price for live stock, which is now at or near the maximum of a course of years.

It cannot be said, therefore, that the farmers or the best packers of the west at existing prices are not getting less than labor cost or are not getting a fair profit.

HIGHER COST OF CARRYING

CROPS

Carrying crops from the time of maturity and harvest, when the elements of producing cost are included, through the period of distribution until involved in the two different crops would still be $63,000,000 larger for a 12,000,000-bushel crop this year at eleven cents a bushel.

Summarizing these results we have the following items of increased valuation for seven crops only:

Increased value.

Wheat $146,000,000

Corn 200,000,000

Oats 102,000,000

Rye, barley, flax, 50,000,000

Cotton 63,000,000

Total 7 crops, $561,000,000

This taken on account of the high or values of live stock for whose financing the burden falls upon the autumn and winter months, nor for the financing of the wool clip which has to be carried from May to May, nor of the various other yields which when they move from first hands absorb money with great rapidity. It is probably not overestimating to say that a clear billion of dollars more will be involved in financing this crop year, taking the country as a whole, than in that of 1908-09.

Henry Hudson may have crossed the ocean in the Half Moon, but it is certain the Life Insurance agents of his day did not take his risk with a pleasant face.

That Tipton, Indiana, cashier who left with $35,000 of the bank's funds might try his hand at literature and become rich and pay back his thefts.

New York has a dancer who has obtained a stay in proceedings. From the complaint made she needed more than stays, skirts and so forth.

That New York hen that scratched up hidden gems should remember that this is the time of the year that its western sister usually lays them.

Next Monday evening the council has the question of the street car franchise up and they should be sure and make no mistake this time.

Because of the protracted drought

China looks like a gold field for the man with a few dozen artisan wells to sell.

Germany is watching France with envy as it makes continual attempts to reach England's shore with airships.

So Taft has his own ideas on the tariff proposition that even Mr. Aldrich and Mr. Cannon can not overcome.

Mr. Littauer of Gloversville is much surprised that Taft wants no tax on gloves in his new tax schedule.

District Attorney Jerome still insists that "Thaw can not take up and put on insanity like an old shoe.

Evidently the people of Barcelona are satisfied with what their ancestors did to the Moors.

They will soon have rules of the air that drivers of aeroplanes must keep to the right.

What will future generations think when they do up the bones of an aro-plane used in 1910?

Secretary Wilson still believes he was right when he talked about plen-ity of wheat.

The speed contests between Mr.

Taft and the Texas jackrabbits will be a good test for the patience of the chief executive.

At any rate Thaw is as sane as his hired alienist can make him.

FAILS TO COMPLY WITH ORDINANCES

Went Swimming in Natures Garb and

Was Quickly Arrested For Offense.

Bathing in Rock River on summer days such as these with the thermometer flitting with the hundred degree mark is a commendable rather than a reprehensible proceeding, but when a full grown man, clad only in nature's habiliments, performs his ablutions inside the city limits and in full sight of scandalized spectators,

he comes in conflict with the city statutes as well as the common law of decency.

Jacob Kunkszki, more familiarly known as the "moocher" whose principal occupation is netting as an ornamental piece of statuary on the street corners, thought that, as the day was exceedingly warm and the suit of clothes which he wears the year round, very disagreeable, it might be a pleasure as well as a very pressing duty, to take a bath in the river. Not having a bathing suit, he simply placed his clothes on the bank just north of the St. Paul bridge and went in as nature made him. Unfortunately, Jacob had chosen a very public place as suitable for his purpose and he had no mood than appeared on the scene without his bathing togs than the telephone bells in the police office began to ring—continuously.

When he appeared in municipal court this afternoon, charged with violating the bathing ordinance of the city of Janesville, Kunkszki was much puzzled to know in what way he had offended, but pleaded guilty to the charge and promised to pay the fine of $3 and costs which amounted to $5.50. Not having the full amount on his person, Jacob paid one dollar down and promised to pay the remainder as soon as he could see E. Rice for whom he works occasionally.

A Recipe for Good Looks

"The first ingredient" in the recipe for good looks is pretty teeth.

Given a fine, good looking set of teeth, no man or woman need have any fear that he or she will be called anything but good looking.

Next to the eyes, the teeth are most in evidence.

Every word that is uttered shows the teeth; every smile shows the teeth; every time one takes a mouthful of food the teeth are in evidence, be they good, bad, or a mixture of both.

We put the question directly up to you:

Do you want to make a good impression?

Then have your teeth cared for by the dentist.

I believe I am fitted by experience, equipment and ability to do well by you.

Let me care for your mouth.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lynch, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Byrne on Cherry street, at eight thirty this morning, Mrs. Lynch was seventy-five years of age and was born in Dublin, Ireland. The funeral notice later.

Mrs. Patrick Hines.

News was received in this city today of the death of Mrs. Patrick Hines in Chicago this morning. Mrs. Hines was a former resident of this city on North St. but moved to Chicago about twenty years ago. Her remains will be brought here over the North Western road at 11:45 Saturday morning and burial will be made from the train.

OLESON HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

Employee of Duob Brewery Nearly Electrocuted Yesterday—His Son Had Arm Broken.

Andrew Oleson, an employee of the Duob Brewing company came very near being electrocuted yesterday morning while at work in the brewery. Mr. Oleson was standing in a steel mesh tub, cleaning the receptacle and as he arose from a stooping position an exposed portion of an electric wire came in contact with his body and a current through his body was formed. The shock threw him to the floor and rendered him unconscious, the heavy current still passing through him. He was discovered by this position by another employee of the brewery who came to him and carried him out of the room. After strenuous efforts to revive him had been made, Oleson "came to" and was taken to his home, where a physician attended him. The only apparent results of the shock were that Oleson's side was considerably burned, but his injuries did not prevent him from returning to work yesterday afternoon.

The six-year old son of Mr. Oleson who was playing in an upstairs room, crawled through an open window and slipping fell to the ground, breaking his right arm between the elbow and the shoulder. The boy will be unable to use the arm for quite a long time, as the injury is severe.

MUCH SURPRISED AT HIS RECENT ACTIONS

Chicago Man Picked Up Last Monday Has Become Rational Again.

Strange stories told of the actions of men who become irresponsible while under the influence of liquor are corroborated by the case of August Prellwitz who was captured by Sheriff Schellert after terrorizing the residents of La Prairie last Monday and who is at present confined in the county jail.

Attacks of these kinds are generally known as the tremens but many times the victim acts rationally while affected but after he has recovered remembers nothing. Prellwitz hails from Chicago and up to the time he was arrested he was a very quiet man. He had been working in a cheap hotel with many chances to imbibe freely.

He was partially irresponsible from strong drink when he slipped out with a gang of section men now working on the Evansville cut-off. His excessive libations, together with the hard work, heat and insufficient food, rendered his mind a blank and he is absolutely unable to give an account of what he did until he came to himself in the jail yesterday, a period of nearly a week.

During the first day of his confinement he did nothing but pound the walls of his cell and pull continuously with all his strength on the bars in a vain endeavor to get out. During one of his spasms he almost bit his tongue off. At the present time, he has recovered from his attack and is much surprised at the recital of his actions.

PAID HIS FINE TO THE COURT TODAY

Belligerent Mexican Hands Over Money for Last Night's Disturbance of the Peace.

Mike Velasco, a Mexican farmhand, who was arrested by the police on July 18, charged with drunkenness but allowed to go after he had promised to be good, bobbed up in the city again last night drunk and belligerent. While engaged in an argument in a saloon on S. River street he opened a cheap knife, presumably with the intention of emphasizing his remarks, but was promptly ejected. After he had been arrested and thrown into a cell with another prisoner, Charles Burns by name, he still wished to fight and proceeded to pound Burns. Burns' loud-voiced protest brought an officer upon the scene, and the "grape" was a forced and undiluted exit to another cell. He paid a fine amounting to $5.10 in court this morning. In the belief that Burns had received sufficient punishment for being drunk he was given a week to pay a fine of $5.10.

MONSTER STACK AT ELECTRIC CO. PLANT

Eighty Feet of Hundred-Foot Smoke-pipe Have Been Erected on Power-house.

At the plant of the Janesville Electric company a smokestack, taller than any other now erected in the city, is now nearly finished. When completed it will stand one hundred feet in the air, twenty feet above the roof of the plant. Contractor Kent of Beloit is doing the work and expects to have it ready the last of this week or Monday or Tuesday of next week. Boiler men are busy in building the stack, three men besides the contractor working on it. At the present time a height of eighty feet has been reached.

The stack is made in sections, each section about four feet high, and two semi-circular pieces to the section. These pieces are hauled up by a windlass and riveted to the section below and then the two pieces forming a section of the stack are riveted together. The riveting is done from the inside of the stack on a movable staging, which is hung from the last finished section. About sixty of these sections will be used on the pipe at the Electric plant and at each section about three hundred and fifty pounds of the total weight of the stack will be in the neighborhood of twenty thousand pounds.

Two stacks built in the same manner were recently put up for the Janesville Machine company, the tallest of which is eighty feet in height.

BRIDGES WERE SAFE FOR CIRCUS PARADE

This is the Decision of the Highway Committee and Twenty-four Hour Man.

That the Barnum and Bailey Circus parade may safely follow on their original line of march and that the bridges of Janesville are free from any suspicion of instability was the decision of the highway committee and the road commissioner at their conference with circus officials this morning. The inspection was to have been made yesterday, but was postponed until today when the committee consisting of Aldermen Sherman, Clark, Buchholz, Brown and Richardson, and Street Commissioner Watson, together with J. B. Stone, a four-hour man for the circus, made a tour of inspection and decided that everything was safe. The circus official who is qualified to speak on the subject, expressed himself as satisfied. The circus then, as originally planned, will pitch its tents at Spring Brook.

For several days city officers have been flooded with applications for concessions made by cold drink and quick lunch peddlers who make their living following the circus. It has been necessary to exercise considerable care in granting permits in order that the stands may not interfere with the passage of traffic on the streets.

Little Hunchback Picked Up Yesterday Taken Back by School Official.

An official from the state home for the feeble-minded at Chilpewa Falls arrived in Janesville at six o'clock this morning and took charge of Frank Newczewicz, the twenty-three-year-old degenerate, who with two others, escaped from the institution on the 18th of July. Newczewicz has been an inmate of the home for four years.

NILSSON GAVE HIS STORY TO OFFICERS

Clinton Junction Forger Tells of Having Evaded Officers for Many Months.

When William Nilsson, wanted in Clinton Junction for uttering and passing forged checks, disappeared it was thought he had gone to California. A few weeks later his wife and child left Clinton for the same district and were kept under close watch for many months in hopes that Nilsson might be captured. This failed, however, and it was a surprise to the officers to receive word yesterday that he had given himself up to Kansas City officers. The following dispatch from Kansas City, however, explains matters, although in Clinton nothing has been heard of the death of his child or total illness of his wife.

"I have been dodging arrest since March of last year," Nilsson told the police. "Until last week when my baby was killed and my wife so badly hurt in a street-car accident in San Francisco that she is not expected to live, I felt that I had something to live for. Now it is different. I want to go back and face my accusers, to look me up and let them know I am here."

"Prisoner admits he forged several checks on the Clinton Creamery Supply company at Clinton Junction, Wis. He then left Clinton Junction, abandoning his wife and baby and going to New York shipped to Germany."

"I staid in Germany until last May," said Nilsson. "Then becoming homesick for my wife and little one I came back. Inquiries informed me that my wife was no longer at Clinton Junction, and from then until several weeks ago, when I discovered she moved to the coast, I searched the country for her. I was preparing to go to my wife in San Francisco when I got word of the baby's death and my wife's serious, probably fatal, injury."

Nilsson's capture will undoubtedly be the source of much satisfaction to former Sheriff L. E. Fisher who worked indefatigably on the case, but whose efforts, like many of the best laid plans, were unrewarded. He made at least four trips to Chicago to see Captain O'Brien and trying to locate the fugitive. In the meantime, while following every clue, he kept a close watch over the actions of Mrs. Nilsson and when she left, presumably for California, employed the porter on the train to watch her and report if she saw anyone and where she left the train. In addition to this, he telegraphed the chief of police at Oakland to keep tabs on her and if anyone answered to the description of Nilsson visited her to arrest him. His efforts, however, were unsuccessful as the statements made by Nilsson show, for at the time his wife made the trip he was in Germany.

WARRANT IS ISSUED BY JUSTICE TALLMAN

Trouble Over Rent Leads to Various Other Complications For Chas. Pearce.

Charles D. Pearce, former night-watcherman here, and well-known all over town, is a fugitive from justice and if he comes to town again will be arrested unless he settles his present difficulties. Some time ago Pearce decided to move to Chicago and packed up his goods preparatory to sending them there. He went to the Windy City and his chattels were at the depot ready for shipment, when Mrs. Wilkinson, from whom Pearce rented his home in this city, had an attachment made against them to collect $15.00 due for rent for a month and a half back. Constable Dulin served the attachment and removed the goods as they were, back into the house on Home Park avenue, where Pearce had been living. About a week ago Pearce returned to this city and stayed here until yesterday, when he thought he saw a chance to foil his oppressors. He had a key to the house and so went down there with a house and loaded the goods on the drayman and took them to the Northwestern freight depot intending to ship them to Chicago. The men at the depot recognized the goods and called up Solad Adams & Reeder, the attorney for Mrs. Wilkinson, to see if the attachment had been removed. Mr. Reeder went to the depot and warned them against sending out the goods and Constable William Dulin took them away, storing them this time in Kibbel's warehouse. In the meantime, Justice Stanley D. Tallman had issued a warrant for his arrest but Pearce has disappeared and it is suspected that he has gone to Chicago. Pearce claims that the goods have been sold to a Chicago automobile dealer and that he has given the salekeeper a bill of sale for them. The plaintiff's lawyers, however, hold that this bill of sale would not hold especially as it has become a chattel mortgage, being the security for a loan secured by Pearce from the man in Chicago.

A SEVERE STORM TO NORTH OF THE CITY

The Evening Chit-Chat

by RUTH CAMERON

"Don't marry until you can have a home." That's my advice to the girl who is planning to get married and "board awhile."

"Don't stay in lodgings any longer than it takes you to hunt up a suitable home or apartment." That's my advice to the girl who has gotten married and is still "boarding awhile."

Married life without a home is like an egg without salt—only infinitely worse.

Next to the hearing and rearing of a child, the building up of a home is the strongest bond of common interest that a man and woman can have.

Lodgings, I think, are the devil's own invention for stealing away the happiness that he might otherwise be obliged to see young married people enjoy.

A young man of my acquaintance told me the other day that a girl who had been married but a few months asked him to come and see her where she was boarding, and offered as inducement the fact that her husband was seldom at home.

A wave of disgust swept over me. And then it passed and I was just sorry.

For I knew the girl as a girl with little brains and much energy, who needed, if ever a woman did, some natural interests to occupy her time.

She has strong homewifely tastes. In a home she might make herself and her husband very happy. In "furnished rooms" she will probably ruin both her life and his.

A good many of the young couples who drift into the divorce courts pleading "incompatibility of temper" would never have had time to find out they had such jaw-breaking disturbance if they had been busy building instead of dragging along an unnatural existence in a boarding house.

Perhaps the initial expense of a home seems a good deal to some people.

But there is such a thing as beginning cheap, you know—such a thing as starting in with the bare necessities.

And after all isn't the question not so much can you afford a home, as can you afford—financially and otherwise—to do without one?

Ruth Cameron

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, July 29, 1890.—The Roman Fur Co. has a remarkable case of "lupinus lingo" occurred the other day in a fashionable dry goods store in this city. It happened thusly: A lady came in to examine some silks and having asked the price, remarked that she thought them very high and ventured to ask the clerk the cause of it. He proceeded to acknowledge that the silks were indeed very high, and elaborately explained to her that the chief cause was the failure of the "lupeworm" as a crop in Europe; that it, the tapeworm, was played out to such an extent that several manufacturers were already closed and others must soon follow suit.

Discharged.—The man James Cotter who was supposed to be the man who shot Deputy Sheriff Johnson and Constable Johnson in Beloit, was discharged last evening.

COURT JUSTIFIES STONE IN ASSAULTING WAITER

Baltimore Judge Declares Missouri Senator Had Ample Cause for Striking Negro.

Baltimore, July 29.—United States Senator William J. Stone of Missouri had a right to slap the face of Lawrence G. Brown, a negro waiter on a Pennsylvania train who was impudent to him, according to Police Magistrate Grinnan, who quickly acquitted the senator.

"Senator Stone, I have traveled a great deal in my time," said Justice Grinnan. "I can fully appreciate the treatment that you received at the hands of Brown, who it has been shown was discourteous in the extreme. I feel that you had sufficient provocation and that you were absolutely justified in reprimanding and striking Brown. I dismiss you."

The case which brought to the bar of the Central station perhaps its most distinguished prisoner, grew out of an incident of the trip of Senator Stone from Philadelphia to Washington and which was interrupted at Union station this city when a policeman of the Pennsylvania railroad entered his car, and placing him under arrest, sent him to the stationhouse in the patrol wagon accompanied by Brown, who charged the senator with having assaulted him.

Col. C. D. Foster, counsel for Mr. Stone, pleaded the immunity of senators and representatives from arrest and was overruled by Magistrate Grinnan, who asked Senator Stone to give his version of the affair. The senator said he had given Brown an order for some luncheon and also for a drink. The latter was not brought as he had requested and he sent Brown back to correct his mistake. Still the order was not properly filled, and Brown when reprimanded, was impudent. Two senators' order for luncheon, he said he found on investigation, waited in the kitchen after all the other guests had been served and had finished eating.

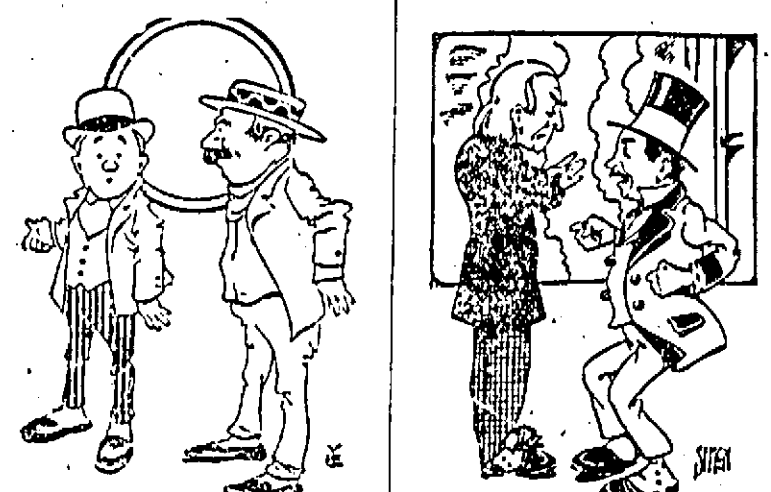

"The fellow put in an appearance," said the senator, "and I uttered remarks calculated to make him sit up and take notice. I was angry at being made to wait so long and when I reprimanded the waiter he told me to wait my turn and then I would be served."

I saw the food was cooked and getting cold. 'You black dog,' I said, 'you are trying to show your resentment.' Then I reached over and slapped him in the face."

A lot of them seem to stand around waiting to see me guess wrong, then chuckle like fools."

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subdues inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and absolutely confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers, in handsome cloth-binding, 31 stamps.

If you want to build a house on the monthly payment plan--these wants will get you in touch with the right parties. A trial will convince you

CHAPTER XVIII.

SEKNAI.

SOLIM's wife, Neenah, saved my life. It was the most morning, and Chase was relating his experiences to an eager, marvelling company in the breakfast room. "She has a sister whose husband was one of the leaders in the attack," Neenah told Solim, and Solim told me. "That's all. Days ago Solim and I caught the rope at the top of the cliff, and after that such an emergency as this and intending to use it if we could reach the chateau in no other way. I figured that they would cut off all other means of getting into your grounds."

"Neenah came up from the village ahead of the attacking party, out of breath and terribly frightened. We didn't waste a second, let me tell you. Grabbing up our guns, we got out through the rear and made a dash across the stable yard. It was near midnight. The servants, all of whom were up and ready to join in the fight, attempted to head us off. We had a merry little touch of real warfare just back of the stables. It was as dark as pitch, and I don't believe we hit anybody. But it was lively scrambling for a minute or two, let me tell you."

Depplingham's big blue eyes were fairly snapping. His wife put her hand on his shoulder with an impulsive strange to her, and Gonerria saw a light blue in her eyes. "I hope you pulled a few of 'em. Serve 'em jolly well right!"

"Solim says he stumbled over something that grunted as we were racing for the back road. I was looking out for Neenah." He glanced involuntarily from Lady Agnes to the princess, a touch of confusion suddenly assailing him. "Solim covered the retreat," he added hastily. "Instead of keeping the road we turned up the embankment and struck into the forest. Dropping down behind the bushes, we watched those devils from the town race pell-mell, howling and shouting, down the chateau road. There must have been a hundred of 'em. Five minutes later the bungalow was aflame. It was as bright as day, and I had no trouble in

RHEUMATIC FOLKS.

Are You Sure Your Kidneys Are Well?

Many rheumatic attacks are due to uric acid in the blood. But the duty of the kidneys is to remove all uric acid from the blood. Its presence there shows the kidneys are inactive.

Don't daily with "uric acid solvents." You might go on till tomorrow with them, but until you cure the kidneys you will never get well. Doan's Kidney Pills not only remove uric acid, but cure the kidneys and then all danger from uric acid is ended. Here is Janesville testimony to prove it.

Mrs. E. J. O'Brien, 260 West Third St., Janesville, Wis., says: "It is a pleasure for me to publicly recommend so valuable a remedy as Doan's Kidney Pills. I have used them and know they are all that is claimed for them. I suffered a great deal during the past ten years from rheumatism and kidney trouble. Since I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from the People's Drug Co., I have felt much better. I hope other people who suffer from disordered kidneys will try Doan's Kidney Pills."

recognizing Neenah in the crowd. Solim led the way, and I followed with Neenah. Thus it all, Browne, I didn't have time to save that case of cigarettes. I'm out nearly a hundred boxes."

"You might have saved the cigarettes if you hadn't been so occupied in saving the fair Neenah," said her ladyship, with a provoking smile.

"Alas, I thought of that also, but too late! Still, virtue was its own reward. Imagine my delight when we stopped to rest to have Neenah divide her own little store of Turkish cigarettes with me. We had a bully smoke up there in the wood."

"Solim, too?" asked Browne casually.

"Oh, not Solim was smoking," said Chase easily.

"Neenah is very beautiful," ventured Lady Agnes.

"She is exquisite," replied Chase, with the utmost sang froid. "Solim bought her last winter for a ten carat ruby and a pair of sapphires."

"That explains her overwhelming love for Solim," said the princess quietly. Chase looked into her eyes for a moment and smiled inwardly.

"We finally got to the edge of the cliff and unheeded the rope, which we already had fastened to the trunk of a tree. I was obliged to carry Neenah for the last quarter of a mile, poor little girl. She was tired to my back, leaving my throat and chest free, and down we came. Simplest thing in the world. Prost! Here am I with my happy family at my heels."

"Well, we can't all here and dawdle all day!" exclaimed Depplingham. "We must be moving about—arrange our batteries and all that, don't you know. We've got to save these devils off for two or three weeks at least, and we'll have to look sharp. Browne, that's the third cup of coffee you've had. Come along! This isn't Boston."

As they left the breakfast room Chase stepped to Gonerria's side and walked with her. At the foot of the stairs, where they were to part, she extended her hand, a bright smile in her eyes.

"You were and are very brave and good," she said. He withheld his hand, and she dropped hers, hurt and strangely vexed. "Do you care for my approval, or do you?"

"You forget, princess, that my hands are still suffering from the bravery you would laud," he said, holding them resolutely behind his back.

"Oh, I remember!" she cried in quick comprehension. "They were cut and bruised by the rope. How thoughtless of me! What are you doing for them? Come, Mr. Chase, may I not dress them for you? I am capable—I am not afraid of wounds. We have had many of them in our family, and fatal ones too." She was eager now and earnest.

He shook his head with a smile on his lips. "I thank you. They are better, much better, and they have been quite properly bandaged already."

"Neenah!"

"Yes," he replied gently. She seemed to search his mind with a quick, intense look into his eyes. Then she smiled and said, "I'll promise not to bruise the wounds if you'll only be so good as to shake hands with me."

He took her slender hand in his broad, white swathed palm and pressed it fervently regardless of the pain which would have caused him to wringe if engaged in any other pursuit. There was no longer any doubt as to the intentions of the disappointed islanders. Von Hiltz and Neenah had convinced them that their cause was seriously jeopardized. They were made to see the necessity for permanently removing the white pretenders from their path.

Depplingham, on account of his one time position in the British army, was chosen chief officer of the beleaguered "cliff." A strict espionage was set upon the native servants despite Neenah's assurances of loyalty. Lookouts were posted in the towers, and a ceaseless watch was to be kept day and night. Chase on his first visit to the west tower discovered a long unweird searchlight of powerful dimensions. Fortunately for the besieged, the electric light plant was located in the chateau grounds and could not be tampered with from the outside.

Britt was put in charge of the night patrol, Saunders the day. Solim under orders had severed the long rope with a single rifle shot. No one could hope to reach the chateau by way of the cliff.

Extra precautions were taken to guard the women from attacks from the inside. The window bars were locked securely, and heavy bolts were placed on the doors leading to the lower regions. It was now only too apparent that Stagg and Wyckholme had wrought well in anticipation of a rebellion by the native shareholders. Each window had its adjustable grate; every outer door was protected by heavy iron gates.

By nightfall Depplingham's forces were in full possession of every advantage that their position afforded. Chase came from his room, still stiff and sore, but with fresh, white bandages on his battered hands. He looked and received permission to light a cigarette and then dropped wearily into a seat near the princess, who sat upon the stone railing. Her trim, graceful figure was outlined against the darkness. A delicate, nervous fragrance exhaled from her person, filling him with an indescribable delight and languor; the spell of her beauty was upon him, and he felt the leap of his blood.

"If I were you," he said at last, "I wouldn't sit up there. It would be a very simple matter for one of our friends to pick you off with a shot from below. Please let me pull up a chair for you."

She smiled languidly, without a trace of uneasiness in her manner.

"Dear officer of the day, do you think they are so foolish as to pick us off in parties? Not at all. They will dispose of us wholesale, not by the piece. By the way, has Neenah been made quite comfortable?"

"I believe so. She and Solim have the room beyond mine, thanks to Lady Depplingham."

"Agnes tells me that she is very interesting—quite like a princess out of a fairy book. You recall the princesses who were always being captured by ogres and evil princes and afterward satisfactorily rescued by those dear knights admirable? Did Solim steal her in the beginning?"

"You forget the pot of sapphires and the big ruby."

"They say that princesses can be bought very cheaply."

"Depends entirely upon the quality of princess you desire. It's very much like buying rare gems or old paintings. I'd say. Speaking of princesses and ogres, has it occurred to you that you would bring a fortune in the market?"

"Mr. Chase?"

"You know, it's barely possible that you may be put in a matrimonial shop window if Von Hiltz and his friends should capture you alive. Ever think of that?"

"Good heavens! You—why, what a horrible thing to say!"

"You won't bring as much in the south sea market as you would in Rapp-Thorberg or Paris, but I dare say you could be sold for—"

"Please, Mr. Chase, don't suggest anything so atrocious!" she cried, something like terror in her voice.

"Neenah's father sold her for a handful of gems," said he, with distinct meaning in his voice. She was silent, and he went on after a moment. "Is there so much difference, after all, where one is sold, just so long as the price is satisfactory to all concerned?"

"You are very unkind, Mr. Chase," she said with quiet dignity. "I do not deserve your sarcasm."

"I humbly plead for forgiveness," he said, suddenly contrite. "It was benighted."

"American wit, I imagine you call it," she said scornfully. "I don't care to talk with you," and he bowed. (TO BE CONTINUED.)

HELD FOR INSURANCE FRAUD.

Oklahoma Man Accused of $5,000 Death Sham.

Guthrie, Okla., July 29.—John L. Bird, sheriff, left with a requisition on the governor of Kentucky for the return of William McCracken, in custody at London, Ky., on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the Prudential Life Insurance Company of $5,000. While residing with his family on the Arkansas river in Osage county, McCracken fell from a raft. Several days later a body said to be that of McCracken was found and buried. McCracken's family collected $5,000 policy from the insurance company. McCracken was insured for $25,000 in all.

FACTORY GIRLS IN DEATH PACT.

Suicide Club Revealed by Tragic End of Cleveland Toller.

Cleveland, O., July 29.—That a club of factory girls exists, or did exist, here, having as its aim suicide as a means of escape from a life which they considered too sad and enslaving to endure, is the belief of the county officials, who today began an investigation of the circumstances surrounding the suicide of Miss Rebecca Bonshak, last Saturday.

The county coroner held an inquest, at which he examined several witnesses who were supposed to have knowledge of the existence of a suicide pact.

CHEATS UNCLE SAM 18 YEARS.

Illinois Man Caught When He Asks Pension Increase.

Bloomington, Ill., July 29.—After defrauding the government for 18 years through the receipt of a pension to which he was not entitled, Albert Reese, aged 78, of Danvers, this county, was sentenced to one year in the federal penitentiary at Port Leavenworth, Kan.

He probably would have been able to draw his monthly stipend up to the day of his death but for his greed in trying to have the original allowance increased. He had drawn $2,000.

WRIGHT POSTPONES FLIGHT.

Bad Wind Prevents His Final Cross-Country Test.

Washington, July 29.—A persistent wind and a suddenly discovered stoppage in the gasoline feed pipe of his motor prevented Orville Wright from making his final cross-country two-man test of the aeroplane. The army officials granted him three days additional time for the test.

The failure of the trial disappointed an immense crowd, including President Taft and practically all of the most prominent government officials.

Fire at Alton Costs $60,000.

Alton, Ill., July 29.—A fire starting in the J. H. Ross building on Third street, between State and Plaza streets, has caused a loss of $60,000 and the serious injury of John Alchod, a fireman. Alchod's right arm was cut off by a pane of falling glass. Half a dozen business houses have been destroyed.

Making Money On the Farm

VII.—Small Grain Breeding

By C. V. GREGORY.

Agriculture"

Small grain breeding is second only to corn breeding in importance. Indeed, there is even more chance for improvement along this line, since so little has been done already. The average yield of oats in Iowa in 1908 was only twenty-three bushels to the acre, while many fields yielded three times that much. This is only one instance out of many that could be given to show the great need for improved seed.

With small grain, as with corn, the work of improvement must largely be done for each special locality. Each type of soil and climate affects the crops in a different way, and varieties that yield well in one part of the country may fail utterly under different conditions. This makes it necessary for each locality to have its small grain breeder. There is no opening along the line of special farming that offers greater opportunities to the ambitious young farmer than this. The work is a little more particular than corn breeding perhaps, but the results are just as sure and the profits just as great. Even though you may not care to take up small grain breeding as a business, it will pay you to carry it on to a limited extent at least to provide improved seed for your own use.

Selection the Basis of Improvement.
The requirements of the various grains vary with the use to which they are to be put, but the yield is an important point with all. Selection is the basis for improvement in yield as well as in the other points that will be taken up later. The first step is to select the variety that seems to be doing best in your locality, and use that as the basis of improvement. The simplest method of breeding is to select a few of the best heads at harvest time to start with. A great difference will be observed at this time. Some heads of oats, for instance, will contain three times as many berries as others not a foot away. The seed from these large heads, following the law of "like produces like," give larger yields.

The seed from the selected heads is sown on a plot by itself the next spring. Small grain is not like corn in that it is normally self-fertilizing. The flower is inside the hull, so that the pollen cannot get from one to the other. The only way cross pollination can be accomplished is by hand. Some improved varieties have been produced in this way, but the operation is too delicate and the results too uncertain for the beginner. Being self-fertilized, the only way small grain can be mixed is mechanically, by mixing the seed. It is not necessary that the breeding plot be a considerable distance away from the other fields, as in the case of corn.

The produce of this breeding plot should be threshed separately and used for planting a larger field the next year. The year after that there will be enough seed for the entire acreage of small grain.

This method is simple and easily worked out on any farm. The trouble with it is that the inherited differences in the yielding ability of different heads is not fully taken into account. The only way to tell which of two equal sized heads will yield the most is by actual test. If the greatest improvement is to be made individual head tests will have to be resorted to.

Individual Head Tests.

These individual head tests are carried on in much the same manner as the individual ear tests with corn. The heads should be carefully selected in the fall. In addition to the size of heads, the stiffness of the straw, its height and freedom from rust and other fungus diseases should be noted. The rows in the breeding plot should be four inches apart and the kernels dropped the same distance apart in the row. The aim throughout should be to have the conditions as nearly like those of the field as possible. The number of rows will depend to a considerable extent on the time that can be devoted to the work. The larger the number the greater the probability of producing something good. Fifty rows is a good number to start with.

Increasing the Yields.

In the fall the rows should be carefully examined. Some will be lodged badly. Others will have poorly filled, short heads. Still others will be badly rusted or smutted. Discard all these and harvest and weigh the produce of each good row separately. There will be a few that will be considerably better than the rest. From these enough of the best heads should be selected to plant next year's breeding plot. The rest should be thrashed together and used for planting an increase bed. The seed from the increase bed is used to plant a bigger field and the seed from this for the general fields or for sale.

By selecting the best heads for each year's breeding plot improvement is rapid and marked. It takes two or three years after the improved seed has been produced to obtain it in sufficient quantities for general use, but the results will pay for all the trouble, even if you produce seed for your own use only. After the superiority of your new strain is once shown, however, you will be besieged with requests for seed and can add considerably to your income by supplying the demand thus created. The trade will continue good, for each year you will have something a little better to offer.

In addition to the selection for yield, strong straw and freedom from disease there are a number of other points that should be considered. These depend to a considerable extent on the use to which the grain is to be put.

In selecting oats the per cent of hull is one of the most important points to look to. This varies from 20 to 50 per cent of the entire weight. Since oat hulls are of little more value than straw, it is evident that the smaller the percentage of hull the more valuable the oats will be. A mere examination will show the difference between a thick and a thin shelled oat. To determine the differences more exactly it is necessary to weigh a hundred oats or so on a fine balance such as any doctor or druggist possesses, then press out the hulls and weigh them and calculate the per cent. The weight of oats to the measured bushel varies from twenty-five to fifty pounds. The heavy oats are, of course the most valuable. Nearly all grain elevators have a small device for testing the weight per bushel.

Another point to be considered is the tendency to stool. In localities where the summers are cool and late varieties can be grown, a tendency to stool considerably is desirable, since a thick stand can be secured with less seed. Where the summers are hot and early varieties must be grown, however, the tendency to stool to any great extent should be discouraged, since stooling always delays ripening. Often a hull will be seen partly inclosed a smaller out. These small outs are known as pin outs. They lessen the yield, and a strain which contains many of them should be discriminated against.

There are three general types of oats—side oats, hullless oats and spreading oats. The hullless varieties do not yield enough to be of any great value. The side oats, in which the berries are all on one side of the head, are grown in this country to a limited extent only. Most of the oats grown are of the spreading varieties. There are varieties of oats of almost every color, white, yellow, black and green being the most common. There is little difference in yield that can be ascribed to color. If they are grown in a community in large enough quantities so that they can be shipped in carload lots the selling price will not vary much.

Selecting Wheat and Barley Heads.

In selecting wheat heads those that do not shell too readily should be given the preference, since much wheat is lost by shelling during harvest. The grains should be plump, smooth and bright. The seed coat should be tough and not cracked. Where the bran is brittle and cracks easily it is difficult to separate it from the flour. The kernels should be hard. Hard wheat makes better flour owing to the greater percentage of gluten, and millers will pay more for it. Hardness wheat is more easily handled, but it does not yield as well as the bearded varieties.

In barley the hull adheres to the kernel in thrashing. The grains should be bright, as the quality of brewing barley depends largely upon the color. The best barley for brewing purposes is that which contains the most starch. This can be determined by cutting through the grain and noting the percentage of starch to horny parts. For feeding purposes a smaller percentage of starch is desired.

Beardless barley is a little less hardy and yields a little less than the bearded sorts, but the convenience of handling more than makes up for this. There are two types of barley, the two rowed and the six rowed. The six rowed varieties have given the best satisfaction in this country.
